Who Scares Wins?

Generating fears to exploit wins campaigns. A cynical American senator advised Harry Truman that increasing the defence budget in peacetime meant scaring the hell out of the American people. The advice was taken.

Today horror stories abound about man made climate change causing floods and fires threatening all our futures, and that sexual minorities live in so much fear of being oppressed and bullied that they need special legal protection. And if they don't get them they will kill themselves! These scares have worked only too well..

To win votes political parties advertise their "Green" credentials and promise to deliver legal "equality" for men who claim to be really women. So global political elites are winning power on the backs of existential fears created by propaganda and the denial of biological reality. This is what cultural Marxism looks like on its way to world domination.

Shamelessly calling for the sovereignty of the incompatible values of "equality" and "diversity" activists dominate the media. Disciples of the fraudulent pervert Alfred Kinsey, father of the sexual revolution demand ever-lower ages of consent, abortion on demand, gay "marriage", self-declared "gender" identity, no fault divorce and lgbtq+ "education" for four year olds. Objectors are attacked and denounced as "bigots" and "homophobes" with screams of narcissistic rage demanding full compliance or else!

Homophobia is a fraud

So politically powerful are these charges that homophobia has now been made illegal in Switzerland where a perceived hatred of homosexuals will now attract fines and/or imprisonment. But it is all based on fraud, on a sophisticated but diabolical deceit dreamed up in the 1960s by a fanatical psychiatrist called Philip Weinberg. Wanting to stigmatise other psychiatrists who rejected his views on gay rights, he invented a phoney phobia as a weapon in the culture wars.

True curable phobias have physical symptoms like increased heart rate, sweating and feelings of panic. Homophobia has no such symptoms. Portrayed, as an irrational hatred of harmless homosexuals it is a personal smear against critics of the gay rights movement. And as a scare tactic to silence opposition it has been incorporated into the devastatingly effective propaganda campaign mounted in Kirk and Madsen's activists' manual (1989). This killed the threat posed by the AIDS crisis and made their campaign for things like gay marriage so successful. They also popularised 'born gay' knowing it was a lie (After the Ball p.184).

Cultural Marxism: the new revolution

In the early 1920s Marxist intellectuals changed their failed strategy to establish international socialism from urging the workers to overthrow their capitalist rulers to persuading students, as future leaders to undermine and betray their own civilisation. They were to be seduced by a new socially critical theory to condemn family, Christianity and patriotism as forms of oppression rather than pillars of a healthy society. Lenin's instruction to his disciples dazzled by Marx's utopia was to "Go for the Liberals, they will believe anything". And they did with a vengeance.

The new theory for cultural Marxists was that encouraging promiscuity would make western civilisation stink and undermine faith in its foundational institutions. This included teaching young school children about sexual intercourse so they would experiment with it on each other. Today we have the international child pornography "industry". The ideologues believed the resulting decadence and moral collapse would allow socialism to take over the world without firing a shot. "Make love not war", coined by Professor Herbert Marcuse a leading Marxist theorist in the 1960s, gave permission for students to abandon their parents' sexual morals. They would follow the teaching of the perverted Alfred Kinsey whose "research" ushered in the sexual revolution of the 1960s. Although revealed as totally fraudulent in 1990 his toxic sexually anarchic ideology has been absorbed by western culture.

Thou shalt not give offence to the activist

Today we have the snowflake generation demanding safe spaces and freedom from being challenged by ideas that might "trigger" them into states of high anxiety. Things like males cannot become females no matter how strongly they "identify" as such, that homosexual practices pose very serious health hazards and that same sex "marriage" undermines the natural social order.

But these childish demands do scare many into compliance. Highly qualified professionals have been made to fear for their jobs and reputations if they do not accept the "New Normal" even though they know it is based on fantasy and magical thinking. "Hetero-normativity", the natural ideal of a married man and woman with their children as the basic building block of civilised society, is to be smashed fulfilling the cultural Marxists' desire to destroy the family and force total dependency on the state. And God help you if you are a doctor, teacher or parent who objects. Your job or even your own children can be taken away and your life devastated. So will who scares win? Or will those who dare win by facing down the cry-bullies in a revolution against cultural Marxist tyranny?
